The Old Story

There's always something, and repeat, to make us weep and sigh; we're looking for big crops of wheat, then comes the Hessian fly. "Vast tracts of grain," the papers claim, "are ruined by this pest, and farmers, weary of the game, are moving further west. And thus the splendid prospect ends—all estimates have shrunk." And nearly all such talk, my friends, is piffle, con and bunk. The farmers fear the price will slump, if prospects seem too bright, and so such fairy tales they pump into the jays who write. You'll see the stately wheat stacks rise at harvest time, don't fear; and none will miss what Hessian flies have spoiled for us this year. And scores of bogies that we hate, that wear and tear the mind, are flouted by some selfish skate who has an ax to grind. When we behold a crop of fear, it's safe to bet, by jings, that there's a speculator near who sits and pulls the strings. WALT MASON.

YACHTING CRUISES PLANNED.

Washington Owners of Pleasure Craft to Take Trips This Summer.

Long summer cruises on the coast are being arranged for three of the larger yachts of the Washington-owned pleasure fleet and many owners of smaller boats are preparing for summer cruising in the wide waters at the mouth of the Potomac and on Chesapeake bay. Capt. Bal, master of the yawl yacht "Anita," will sail on Saturday and Sunday, June 20 and 21, to Norfolk and back. H. A. Seymour of this city, is fitting the yacht to sail in the coming week for a cruise in New England waters. The vessel will make the trip through inland waters as far as possible and will make New London her headquarters while in the north. The power yacht "Dacota," belonging to R. L. Galt, is scheduled to spend several weeks at Atlantic City, Cape May and other Jersey coast resorts and it is expected she will also leave here in the coming week. Under the command of Capt. Hammick Kendrick the yacht will sail to Norfolk and picking her way will go from there outside to Atlantic City, where she will make her headquarters. The bugey yacht "Javallin," belonging to Dr. Greer, is also to make an ocean cruise this summer and will spend several weeks in New England waters. The vessel on the trip will be under the command of her owner, who has several times before taken his craft to New England waters. The yachts are lying at anchor in the harbor fitting out for their voyages.

To Represent Washington.

Dr. Alpher, corresponding secretary of the American Society of the Federal States Soldiers, is to be the Washington representative at the seventh annual convention of the federation to be held in Rochester, N. Y., June 25-July 2. Other delegates are to include Nathan Strauss, Louis Brandeis, Joseph Barondess and David Yellen.

Canal Pictures at Press Club.

H. B. Furlong of Pittsburgh, who assisted in installing the locks on the Panama canal, will exhibit a remarkable series of photographs and lantern slides at the National Press Club tonight. The collection of pictures is considered to be one of the most valuable in existence, as they cover the building of the canal from the first shovelful of dirt to the present time. Mr. Furlong remained in Washington today for the express purpose of exhibiting his pictures at the Press Club tonight.

FEAST OF SACRED HEART OBSERVED BY CATHOLICS

Today Also Marks Close of Nine-Day Novena in Several of the Churches.

The feast of the Sacred Heart was observed in the Catholic churches of Washington today, this being a feature of the observance of Corpus Christi week. The day also marked the close of the nine-day novena in many Catholic churches, not only of the District of Columbia, but throughout the world.
At the Shrine of the Sacred Heart, the masses of the novena were sung at 7 and 9 o'clock, twenty communion being received by the congregations at the masses. Rev. P. C. Gavan is to preach the closing sermon of the novena at 7:45 o'clock this evening.

At St. Aloysius Church low masses were celebrated this morning followed by a high mass at 9 o'clock, the celebrant being Rev. John Geale. The masses were followed by an all-day exposition of the blessed sacrament, and a sermon by Rev. Eugene de L. McDonnell at 7:45 o'clock tonight will close the services.

Final Exercises at School.

The final exercises of St. Teresa's Parish School were held today, high mass being celebrated this morning by Rev. Charles M. Bart, who administered holy communion to the children of the school. Masses were sung at St. Dominic's Church at 6, 7 and 7:30 o'clock this morning. The Dominican Fathers, who have conducted the novena at St. Dominic's, will close the novena with a sermon and benediction at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Mgr. Russell in Charge.

Rev. Mgr. Russell was in charge of the special devotions to mark the closing of the novena at St. Patrick's Church. The sermon tonight is to be preached by Rev. William Carroll.
At St. Mary's German Catholic Church an all-day exposition followed the mass at 8 o'clock. The devotion continued during the day, and the novena, which has drawn large attendances during the nine days, will close with the sermon and benediction at 7:30 o'clock tonight by Rev. John H. Roth.

Masses, exposition and all-day devotions marked the final day of the novena at St. Martin's Church. Rev. Eugene A. Hannan is to preach the sermon at the closing service at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Improved Service Southern Railway.

Effective Saturday, June 20th, new train, No. 2, will leave Washington 1:30 p.m. Saturday only, with parlor cars, for Harrisonburg, Warrenton and intermediate stations. This service takes the place of train No. 13 on Saturdays. No. 13 will continue to operate on present schedule daily except Saturdays and Sundays.—Advertisement.

TRACTION COMPANY REPLIES.

Asserts Somerset Citizens Have Not Proved Injustice of Fare Increase.

Asserting that the citizens of Somerset, Md., have not proved their contention of the injustice of a proposed increase of fare between the District line and Somerset, Md., the reply brief of the Washington and Rockville and Georgetown and Tenleytown railway companies, filed yesterday with the interstate commerce commission, asks the commission to dismiss the complaint and approve the proposed increase.

As in the hearing and argument, the companies defend the zone system between Washington and Rockville. It is further declared that the citizens of Somerset should not enjoy any special consideration in rates because of density of population. The brief asserts that there are only twenty-five houses in Somerset, and that the last census showed that the population was 173.

GIVES DETAILS IN SUIT.

Mrs. Winters Files Specific Bill of Particulars in Darst Charge.

Mrs. Helen Clegg Winters of Dayton, Ohio, has filed a bill of particulars in her suit to recover $250,000 damages from Mrs. Susan Huffman Darst of Dayton and Washington, for alleged alienation of the affections of Valentine Winters, husband of the plaintiff. Mrs. Winters tells the District Supreme Court very specifically of the times and places when she says her husband paid attention to Mrs. Darst. When the merchant brings suit for an unpaid bill, he sets forth in detail the articles purchased, and the dates. Frequently, when a railroad or other corporation is sued for personal injuries, it requests the court to compel the injured person to give the particulars of the injuries for which he seeks compensation. Such details are, however, regarded as a most unusual thing in an alienation suit.

THINKS MAIL MEN MIGHT LOCATE DORSEY FOULTZ

Admirer of Washington Letter Carriers Suggests They Could Aid Maj. Sylvester.

A patron of the Washington post office advises that Maj. Sylvester utilize the local letter carrier force if he really wishes to find Dorsey Foulz. Here is what she said in a letter just received by Postmaster Praeger:

"I thought it proper that I should write and commend the great efficiency of your office, particularly your carriers. I had a relative visit me here for a few days, a perfect stranger to the city. There was mail to him from all parts of this country, as well as foreign, but none had anywhere near the proper number or location, yet your carrier delivered that mail as promptly as if his name was in the city directory.

"I don't know how he does those seemingly impossibilities, but he certainly was on the job.

"I believe your carrier has Pinkerton skinned a mile and thrown in the shade. I believe if you had a letter addressed to Dorsey Foulz they would find him and deliver it. I think my carrier is a good one. Thanks to you and your carriers."

Postmaster Praeger said the letter so well he had it copied and posted on the bulletin board.

STREET CAR ABLAZE.

Trouble With Electric Wires Assigned as Cause—Fires Elsewhere.

Firemen who responded to an alarm sounded about 4 o'clock this morning found a street car at 13th and D streets northeast burning. Trouble with the electric wires, it is stated, was responsible for the blaze, and about $150 damage resulted.

The fire department received a call about 1:30 o'clock this morning, the result of a blaze in a barrel of trash in the yard at 1408 14th street northwest. No damage was done.

A small fire occurred in the house of Samuel Perry, 217 Indiana avenue northwest, early last night. The damage amounted to $25.

Old British Convict Ship Success

Now in Washington, enroute to San Francisco, where she will be a feature of the great Panama Exposition.

THIS WONDERFUL VESSEL HAS MADE HISTORY. In 1790, the Convict Ship "Success" was built of solid Burma teak, at Mountmain, British East India, and sailed for India. Purchased by the British government in 1802, she was converted into a floating convict prison, and became the Convict Ship of the Fleet, being generally known as "The Ocean Hell."

She is the oldest ship in the world and the only convict ship left afloat of that dreadful fleet of hells which sailed the Seven Seas in 1790 A.D. She is unchanged after all these years, nothing being omitted but her human freight and her sufferings from the cruelties and barbarities practiced upon them. Aboard her are now shown, in their original state, all the alicious dungeons and condemned cells, the whipping posts, the manacles, the branding irons, the punishment balls, the leaden-tipped cat-nine-tails, the coffin bath and other devilish inventions of man's brutality to his fellow men. From 1802 to 1846 she has been the most terrible sight to behold, the greatest lesson the world has ever known in the history of human progress.

Now open to the public daily, Sunday included, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
